Online Research Made Easy™

Welcome

Harnessing the power of feedback has never been easier.

“QuestionPro’s surveys go beyond the simple freebies that proliferate the web. Superficial data has no value to advertisers, and only QuestionPro was able to give us advanced research tools, like conjoint, TURF and GAP analysis, to help us deliver insightful reports to our clients. We found that QuestionPro offered the broadest range of features for the best price. I am a loyal customer and I highly recommend QuestionPro.”

Andy Liu
CEO, BuddyTV.com

“QuestionPro provided U.S. Bank’s Corporate Procurement group with a user friendly tool to administer surveys of our internal customers. This easy to use product allows us to quickly define and distribute surveys to gain timely and valuable information regarding our customer satisfaction rates. It has been a great value in its use to date.”

Michael Lori
Vice President, U.S. Bancorp

One-stop solution

QuestionPro’s online survey software is a one-stop solution for managing feedback via the web. From simple web surveys to large customer satisfaction studies to complex international market research, we have a solution that will meet and exceed your expectations.

The QuestionPro system is 100% web-based and does not require the download of any software or the installation of any expensive hardware. The system is hosted in our secure data centers and accessed simply by opening your web browser and logging into your administrative account.

Conducting research using QuestionPro.com does not require any technical expertise. The system has been designed to allow anyone in any role to conduct meaningful online research.

"The best thing about QuestionPro is that I can do almost anything I could possibly want to do with my surveys..."

Free Basic Account

This license includes everything you need to run a simple web survey. The intuitive wizard interface guides you through the process of creating your survey. Hundreds of survey templates are available as a starting point for creating your survey. After creating your survey, you can easily share a link via email or the web, inviting respondents to complete the survey. Survey results are available in real-time charts and graphs.

Web Professional

Designed for anyone that needs to get a professional survey out the door quickly. This license allows you to include your company logo to customize the look and feel of the survey. It also includes skip logic that routes a respondent through the survey based on how they answer questions. The integrated email system sends survey invitations and tracks who has and has not taken the survey. This license allows for unlimited surveys, unlimited questions, and unlimited survey responses.

Corporate Edition

At $99/month or $999/year, this license unlocks access to advanced features for conducting research online. Everything from security to survey logic to survey customization options are supercharged in the Corporate Edition. Collaboration is also a key feature of the Corporate Edition, allowing users to share, copy, and edit surveys with others linked to their organization. The simple user interface allows anyone in any position to conduct research effectively. The power user has access to an unlimited set of advanced features for designing complex surveys and customizing survey results. Contact sales to inquire about volume user discounts.

Enterprise Services

Let QuestionPro.com power feedback across your entire company.

Collaborate

QuestionPro.com allows multiple users in an organization to share surveys with other survey administrators. Best practice surveys can be added to a library account accessible to anyone in the organization.

Share

Survey results may be published privately in secure dashboard accounts. The dashboard accounts are password protected and allow users to login and interactively view survey results. Survey results may also be published publicly via a website or intranet link.

Integrate

The QuestionPro.com web services API allows the integration of survey data into existing enterprise systems.

Standardize

Create standard stylesheets for surveys and share these styles across all user accounts. Standardized styles allow surveys to maintain a consistent look and feel with existing branding.
